

Australian Customs Notice No. 2026/22

Reduction of excise-equivalent customs duty rates for certain fuels – July 2026

Overview

On 22 June 2026, the Treasury Laws Amendment (Fuel Excise Relief No. 2) Bill 2026 was introduced into Parliament (the Bill). The Bill amends the Customs Tariff Act 1995 (Customs Tariff Act) to temporarily reduce the non-ad valorem component the excise-equivalent customs duty rate that applies to certain fuels, including petrol and diesel. The ad-valorem component of 5 per cent where applicable will not be altered. The temporary reduction would apply from 1 July 2026 until the day before the August Indexation Day, inclusive.

Equivalent changes have been made to the Excise Tariff Act 1921.

The Bill received the Royal Assent on 30 June 2026.

Scope

The Bill provides for the temporary reduction of excise-equivalent customs duty rates applied to the same tariff subheadings listed in section 19AAC of the Customs Tariff Act. These tariff subheadings are subject to bi-annual indexation, in February and August, in accordance with the indexation factor determined with reference to the consumer price index. These tariff subheadings are listed in table 1.

The tariff subheading affected by the 1 July 2026 temporary reduction are the same as the tariff subheadings affected by the 1 April 2026 temporary reduction.

Size of the reduction

The Bill provides for a 30.4 per cent reduction of the excise-equivalent customs duty rates the relevant tariff subheadings.

Restoration of full rates

The Bill provides for the temporary reduction to apply from 1 July 2026 until the end of the day before the August Indexation Day. On the August Indexation Day these tariff subheadings, as well as tariff subheadings for certain kinds of alcoholic beverages, will be increased by the application of an indexation factor determined by the Consumer Price Index. The August Indexation is expected to be 3 August 2026.

Integrated Cargo System

The reduced temporary rates have been entered into the Integrated Cargo System (ICS) with retrospective effect. Any importers of goods that entered for home consumption on or after 1 July 2026 until the time the ICS was updated, will need to apply for a refund. The refund circumstance 'EB' should be quoted.
